Give an Oreo Cookie:

Positive on the edges, with an Adjustment in the center.

“Treat a student as he appears to be and you make him worse. Treat a student as if he was already the person you want him to be and he will rise to the occasion and become what he should be.”

Create the urging in your student’s heart to improve.

A student follows you, because he believes in you, not because he believes in what you are doing.

Success is where Preparation and Opportunity meet. So, get prepared. Success doesn’t just happen. Someone may seem to be an overnight success. You don’t know their prep.

Success is not learning to never fail. It is learning from your failures.

Motivation: “You can’t push a chain.”

Criticism is a de-motivator. You can’t just criticize in a positive way.
